MASS PLANTING OF FRAU KARL DRUSCHKI

ROSES

We are making Garden Roses a leading specialty. We are doing this because we believe the rose to be the best bedding-plant in the world. There is nothing in flowers that can bring quite so much pleasure to the owner as a good bed of Hybrid Tea Roses. They may not be quite so easily grown as some other plants, but if you will allow us to do so, we can help you to have Roses—bushels of them—from June to frost. Our General Catalog (mailed free to all applicants), tells the whole story; but if you wish to see the proposition worked out, visit our trial grounds in the rose season. We shall be testing over two hundred varieties this season, and you can make selections for any desired purpose.

BROAD-LEAVED EVERGREENS

We do not exaggerate when we say that the Broad-leaved Evergreens are the most elegant plants in cultivation. True, the Pines, the Spruces and other narrow-leaved evergreens are also attractive the year round, but they do not have the gorgeous flowers nor the great breadth and lustre of foliage of our broad-leaved species. For the immediate environment of a house, broad-leaved evergreens are certainly the most desirable plants in the world. Of course they are more expensive than the commoner stuff. The best things nearly always cost the most; but there is economy in the fact that when once established they last a life-time, and the cost of maintenance is small. Our tested varieties of form an important part of our collection. They are fully described and illustrated in our General Catalog.

Rhododendrons, Kalmias, Andromedas, Holly, Etc.

HEDGE PLANTING

If we are to keep pace with the best form of gardening we must have hedges. It is in this that England is, as a rule, far in advance of America; but that we are making great progress in the right direction is indicated by the increased number of hedges being planted each year. Our illustrations show two of the leading hedge plants suitable for suburban estates—the Japanese Barberry and the Privet. You will make no mistake in using either. The cost of material varies with variety and size from $6 to $15 per hundred feet; the cost of setting is additional. We shall be pleased to furnish estimates on any form of hedge, either for the material alone or for material and planting. We have made some of the finest hedge plantations in New England.

BARBERRY HEDGE AND SHRUBS

JAPANESE PRIVET HEDGE

DECIDUOUS SHRUBS

When right selections are made, shrubs serve almost as well as evergreens to screen fences and other low objects. Even in winter they are attractive from the gracefulness and color of their stems and branches. The following are among the leading hardy varieties illustrated and described in our General Catalog:

The Azaleas—the most gorgeous of all flowering shrubs. The Cornels—bright and cheerful in winter with their brilliant red and yellow bark. The Deutzias—graceful and free flowering. The Golden Bells (Forsythia)—with dark, shining foliage and deep yellow flowers. The Hydrangeas—always a favorite late-flowering shrub. The Honeysuckles and Syringas—tall-growing and free-flowering. The Lilacs—nothing can take the place of these old shrubs in their new forms of red, white blue, pink and delicate shades of lilac, both double and single flowers. The Japanese Roses—which bloom continuously and bear brilliant fruit. The Spireas—with their graceful arching branches and fountains of bloom. There are hundreds of varieties described in our General Catalog.

FRUIT TREES and SMALL FRUITS

Fruit-growing in New England has increased to such an extent that we have taken up the growing of high-class trees and plants for discriminating planters. We publish a Special Fruit Catalog, which takes up the orchard and fruit-garden proposition in a more comprehensive manner than space here permits. The above booklet will be mailed free upon request.
